Who Make CityStuff Come Alive

Issue 14 • July 2007

DESTINATION: CITYSTUFF

In May Mrs. Taylor's classroom was transformed into a Walk through History. Beginning in 20,000 B.C. with Native American history, these adventuresome third graders follow Carlsbad's historical timeline right up to 2007. Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Rogoff, Mr. Rogers, Mrs. Stone and Mrs. Lalana's classrooms culminate this historical journey with the CityStuff program. Students' CityStuff creations are given center stage at an Open House for parents while a power point presentation of their Mock City Council Meeting is televised throughout the evening.

Kelly Elementary School third graders share their CityStuff experience with their teacher, Mrs. Taylor.

WHY WE DO CITYSTUFF

Budding entrepreneur Jerry Cullins in Mrs. Rogoff's class exclaimed, "I really look forward to Monday's 'cause that's when we have CityStuff. Why can't we have CityStuff everyday?"

1,340 third graders directly benefited from the cadre of 80 CityStuff volunteers who generously shared their valuable time in 61 classrooms located in 14 Carlsbad elementary schools during Spring 2007. We applaud and salute these valiant volunteers for their enthusiasm, dedication and commitment to the CityStuff program.

Mock City Council Members represent their constituents by placing their votes on the "Save the Tree" issue.

IN THEIR OWN WORDS...THE VOICES OF CITYSTUFF VOLUNTEERS

- CityStuff volunteers from St. Patrick School, Christina Ingwersen and Allison Knepler found CityStuff "has been a great experience teaching students about cities, city government and Carlsbad in particular. The program is wonderful and the kids we taught learned so much and had a fun time doing so."
- Volunteer Linda Joyce for Mr. Rogers Kelly Elementary class remarks, "Julie Nygaard presented the certificates and also sat through our Mock Council Meeting. She also could share with the kids what really happened about the tree. They built a sidewalk around it and the tree is still there to this day."
- Gayle Cotton volunteers with Mrs. Knudson's La Costa Heights class. "The CityStuff program is wonderful. Not only does Mrs. Knudsen appreciate the program – the kids LOVE it."
